Essential information citizens can turn to

From the Akron Beacon-Journal to the Yardly News, daily and weekly newspapers across America provide accurate information on the topics and events that affect citizens' lives. NewsBank's electronic edition of your local newspaper provides your community with up-to-date information and archives in a convenient, easy-to-use online resource.

A valuable foundation for every community

NewsBank offers online access to thousands of local newspapers from around the country, most not found in any other online collection. With eyewitness reporting, obituaries, letters to the editor and more, only your local newspaper can satisfy patrons' need for community news. It also provides an authoritative foundation for research on local people, businesses, sports, government and a range of other topics. From a student studying environmental change to a busy mom looking for an article she saw weeks—or even months—ago, online access to newspaper archives benefits the entire community.

Unprecedented accessibility and use of information

With a NewsBank online subscription to your local newspaper, patrons can save time and find just what they're looking for. Patrons and staff alike can easily search, browse, print, save and email articles. With NewsBank's powerful search capabilities and intuitive interface, they can also track topics over time, pinpoint relevant articles and browse specific dates or sections—capabilities that just aren't possible without an online resource. Additionally, NewsBank works directly with libraries to set up, customize and promote the use of your local newspaper archive.

Offering economic benefit and convenience, unlimited online access to your local newspaper provides patrons with an extensive, relevant record of emerging and ongoing issues unmatched by any other media source.
