Complete local, regional and national news coverage

Designed specifically for library research, Access U.K. & Ireland Newspapers features a customisable interface that enables researchers to easily search and browse more than 250 local, regional and national newspapers from England, Scotland, Northern Ireland, Ireland and Wales. Customers can also choose from more than 120 key international titles from around the world. This unique collection is comprised of both daily and weekly newspapers, each with authoritative, staff-written news coverage. Thus, researchers can stay informed and up-to-date with news from both their local area and countries around the globe.

Customisable, map-based interface

Librarians can customise the intuitive, map-based interface to meet patrons' needs by highlighting specific newspapers or a single title. Researchers can browse newspapers through the U.K. map, search titles from a particular section of England with the England regional map or choose titles by country from the world map. Also, Access U.K. & Ireland Newspapers was designed with quick links to groups of titles that are important to U.K. libraries. These shortcuts enable researchers of all levels to find and access articles quickly and easily.

Fast results and advanced searching

Through a newly released, faster search engine, researchers can find relevant information by headline, name, topic, keyword, date, author and more. Results can be viewed by relevancy ranking or chronologically. The collection also supports:

- The ability to browse a title by date
- Searches by U.K. date format
- Viewing of article descriptions in results list
- Federated searching
- MARC records, OpenURLs and more
